York. He reiterated to-day that he would have to go outside of the criminal practice in making many of his appointments, as the criminal laywers of New York were quite up to the standard he had set for his prospective associates. He said that the public might rest assured that even if he did have to select some lawyers not trained in criminal practice his assistants would be competent lawyers.

Justice Jerome is not yet willing to announce the names of the men he has selected thus far. There has been every reason to believe that Mr. Gans and Mr. Garvan, who arrived here only to-day and and Assistant District Attorney George W. Schurman, who is expected here to-morrow would be retained. Justice Jerome has intimated pretty clearly too, that Assistant District Attorney Osborne may stay if he wishes, despite his intemperate speech in the heat of a campaign. Still another name has been added to the slate by perions prone to guess. Col. Robert Grier Monroe, counsel of the Committee of 15, a warm friend of Justice Jerome, who assisted him in the raids on gambling houses during the vice crusade, may be called upon to accept a place on the new

District Attorney's staff. Justice Jerome said to-night that steps would be taken shortly toward drafting certain amendments to the Raines law which would remedy its obnoxious and pernicious features. He did not anticipate iny opposition from the Republican Legisature. He said:

"A number of men prominent in business and the professions will get together very and the professions will get together very soon and discuss in a practical way what is best to be done. I have already discussed the matter with several publicapirited men, lawyers, clergymen, business men and liquor dealers, and have, I think, a pretty fair idea of what the people want. I refer to all the people when I say this, to the ministers and to the liquor dealer and his patrons.

Now there ought not to be any diffi-dealer and his patrons.

Now, there ought not to be any difficulty in reaching some definite conclusions regarding the changes which it is desired to bring about. The author of the Raines law did not anticipate, as he should have done, that the provisions of the law would be perverted. That was because he was unacquainted with the conditions existing in a cosmopolitan city.

It does not meet with universal favor from the saloon keeper and it offends public decency. A considerait offends public decency. A considera-tion which must not be lost sight of, either, is the ostracism from which many a family of the liquor dealers has suffered by reason of the sinister idea which has been enter-tained regarding the business. The liquor is perfectly legitimate and should

"I do not think that any objection will be raised as to the license. There is no kick coming from the liquor dealer over the high license. JEROME'S PLANS FOR STAFF.

SOME MEN NOT CRIMINAL LAW-YERS TO HELP HIM.

They Will Be First-Rate Lawyers, However—Gans, Garvan, Schurman and Osborne Likely to Stay—Repeats His Ideas on Raines Law Reform.

LAKEVILLE, Conn., Nov. 9.—Justice Jerome spent the morning in talking over with Assistant District Attorney Howard S. Gans and Francis P. Garvan the makeup of the staff with which he expects to surround himself when he enters upon the duties of District Attorney of New York. He reiterated to-day that he would convict were it to know the true situation.

In addition to the Herlihy case, those of wardman Glennon. Sergt. Sheils and Plain Clothes Man Dwyer, all of the Tenderloin station, are in the Supreme Court on smoothins for change of venue on the ground of undue public sentiment here against the police. Outside of these cases is that of Capt. Gannon whom the October Grand Jury refused to indict, and of Deputy Commissioner Devery who is under arrest on the charge of oppression under color of oppressed. Gannon's case will probably be presented to the November Grand Jury As regards the case of Devery, no one seems to have any idea what will be done. The question whether Devery's acts in a quasi-judicial capacity make him amenable to the criminal law has been long under consideration by Justice O'Gorman of the Supreme Court.

Because of the outcome of the election

Because of the outcome of the election, it is not considered likely that any grand jurors will suffer the fate that has pursued a member of the Grand Jury which indicted Herlihy. He is a downtown business man whose business has been harmed by the restrictions placed by the police upon his use of the sidewalks, although his neighbors are allowed to encumber the walks without rebuke.

The fact that a great number of policemen were behind Jerome in his campaign is coming to be acknowledged. A member of the force, who heretofore refused to discuss any of the charges made against the police, said yesterday that it was a fact that the obstacles that had prevented policemen from doing their duty had been removed by the election itself. In plain English, that means that the police are not so afraid of the Tammany district leaders as many of them were.

TAKES MAYOR'S OATH IN CANADA. Dr. Brush of Mount Vernon Was Wired to Do So Pending Contest.

MOUNT VERNON, N. Y., Nov. 9.—The Republican leaders of Mount Vernon after an investigation of several days have decided to contest the reelection to a fourth term of Mayor Edwin W. Fiske. Mayor Fiske claims his election by a plurality of twenty votes and has already been sworn in, but the word has gone out from Republican headquarters that there are indications of gross irregularities. The Republicans claim the election by a plurality of at least seven votes. The committee has been meeting nightly since the election and has examined a number of witnesses, most of them poll clerks and inspectors.

Yesterday members of the committee telegraphed to Dr. Brush, who is now in Canada, to take the oath at once as Mayor. Dr. Brush, it is said, on receipt of the telegram, went to Quebec, where he appeared before the American Consul, and was sween

The air in Mount Vernon is full of sensational rumors. In one district of the Fourth ward it is reported that Republican inspectors went to supper and left the ballot boxes entirely in charge of Democrats. In District D. Second ward, it is said a Democratic poll clerk was permitted to call off all the split ballots and that other clerks tabulated them without verification. A ballot box them without verification. A ballot box from the Third ward, it is averred, was found the morning after election in front of it. Reports are also current that an at-tempt will be made by Republicans to indict a number of the ballot clerks and inspec-

Mayor Fiske says his election was accomplished fairly and that he does not fear a contest. As yet no papers in the contest matter have been served on him or any of the city officers, but it is generally understood that the contest will begin on Monday when an application will be made by Roger
M. Sherman to have the Supreme Court canvass the vote of the wards where there is suspicion of fraud. Nearly $50,000 which was bet on the election will be affected

AUSTRALIAN MAIL ON UMBRIA.

BEATS SUEZ ROUTE THUS BY NEARLY FIVE DAYS.

Train Chased Fast Mail From Chicago and Caught It at Toledo-Will Pride Prevent Use of American Route?

If the Cunard steamer Umbria which sailed from this port for Liverpool yesterday meets with no delay it will have been demonstrated for the second time within two months that the Australian mail for England, when it is carried by way of San Francisco and New York, reaches its destination nearly five days quicker than when it goes by way of the Suez Canal and the Brindisi-Calais overland route. Doubtless if this method of sending the Australian mail to Great Britain became permanent this saving of time could be extended two or three days more by cutting down the margin of minor delays all along the route making the San Francisco-New York route shorter by a week than that by Suez and

"It is believed," said George H. Daniels general passenger agent of the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad, yesterday, "that if this substantial saving of time were demonstrated to the British public the result would be that we might get the mail service across our continent and that passengers would follow the mailbags. In other words, there is the hope of building up a rather heavy volume of travel across America and between Great Britain and her remote antipodean colo-

"It was some time after the federation of the Australian colonies that we had cur first opportunity to demonstrate what we could do by way of improving on the old mail service by the Suez Canal. There was a very important mail which the Australian Government authorities were anxious to have delivered in London in the very shortest time possible. It may have had something to do with the Australian federation matter.

"The steamer Ventura of the Oceanic Steamship Line-which is an American line -was then in Sydney harbor about to start for San Francisco. The Ventura is one of the four new boats recently turned out for the Oceanic Line-all built of American material and by American hands She is a fast twin screw boat of 6,000 tons and 8,000 horse power. The Australian authorities decided to try the experimen authorities decided to try the experiment of sending this important mail on her. There were 369 bags of the mail, all told. It was hustled on board and the Ventura sailed at 10 o'clock on the morning of Aug.

sailed at 10 o clock of the informing of Aug.

"She touched at Arckland, New Zealand, at Samoa and at Honolulu, Hawaiian Islands. At 7 o'clock on the evening of Sept. 2 she anchored at Quarantine in San Francisco harbor. Here there was an unfortunate delay of fourteen hours because the quarantine officers would not let the mail bags pass until the ship had been through the regular quarantine routine. Including this delay and the delays at New Zealand, Samoa and Hawaii, the time that elapsed between the starting of the Ventura from Sydney and the delivery of the mail bags upon a Southern Pacific train at 10 o'clock on the morning of Sept. 3 was exactly twenty-one days, an average of fourteen miles

Sydney and the delivery of the mail bags upon a Southern Pacific train at 10 o'clock on the morning of Sept. 3 was exactly twenty-one days, an average of fourteen miles an hour, the Ventura having made an average speed between ports of seventeen miles an hour.

"Of course the railroad companies which were to handle the mail in its transit across the continent had been notified of the task before them, and as they all wished to make a record, everything was tuned up to the best working point. Sept. 3 was on Tuesday. In order to beat the Suzz Canal route the mail bags had to be in the Grand Central Station here in New York early enough on the following Saturday to get them on board the Campania, which sailed at 10 o'clock. When Chicago was reached it looked as though the connection might not be made. The train tearing the mail was an hour and a half late in getting in. At Ogden, Utah, it had been two hours late and it only made up a total of half an hour between there and Chicago.

"Our Fast Mail left Chicago at 8:30 and could not be held a moment beyond her starting time. The train with the Australian mail did not get into Chicago until over half an hour after our train over the Lake Shore had started. There was but one thing to do and that was to make up a special which would overhaul the Fast Mail. This was done, the special consisting of a locomotive, a passenger coach and a mail car. It overtook the Fast Mail to the company of the co at Toledo, the mail car was run in ahead of the sleeper on the Fast Mail and started arrived at the Grand Central Station a few minutes ahead of time, mail wagons from the Post Office were in waiting, and the last one of the 550 bags was on board the Campania in good season before she sailed. The news that the Australian mail would arrive the following Saturday, over four days shead of any previous record, was cabled to England and made a good deal of sir there. The mail was all sorted

Just why this second mall was sent this way I do not know that is, I do not know whether it is a specially important mail or whether it is for the purpose of again making the experiment of fast transit. At all events, it arrived in good time to be put on board the Umbris and it came through on regular schedule time. No special trains were required in this instance. There was, however, no quarantine delay this time in San Francisco.

We have not yet cabled to England that the mail is on the Umbria, but may do so on Monday Whether the English author-ities will adopt this American route for the mail may be a question of pride. By the old route the mails are under the English flag all the way from Australia to Brindla. By the route across the United States they are under the American flag from the time they leave Australia until they are put on board an English ship her in New York

On one side there is sentiment on the other there is a saving of nearly five days.

The Australian mail that sailed on the Umbria at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon consisted of 267 bags, 102 less than that of last September. It arrived here on the twenty-fifth day of its travels—that is the twenty-fifth day actually will be completed at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning. It should be in London some time on the thirty-first day. The time between Sydney and London, by way of the Suez Canal is 35 days. The total distance by the Suez route is 12,500 miles. The total distance by the American route is 1,057 miles longer—13,557. The time saving comes in on the four days' skip of 3,000 miles across the continent by rail.

JEROME VOTE UNDER THE EAGLE Larger Than Low Vote in Spots - Deduc

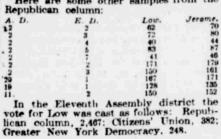

tions From the Tally Sheets. John W. Hutchinson, Jr., of the Law Committee of the Republican County Committee, said yesterday that the tally sheets, so far as they had been obtained and analyzed, showed that the Republicans had been loval to Justice Jerome. "As a matter of fact," added Mr. Hutch-

"the Republicans did better by inson, Jerome than they did by Low in a great many election districts." To illustrate that point Mr. Hutchinson furnished the following figures from the tally sheets, which show just how the vote of any district was divided under the various party emblems:

In the Twenty-seventh Assembly district in which Justice Jerome made the Lyric Hall speech attacking Senator Platt, Jerome ran ahead of Low in at least four election districts so far as the vote in the Republican column was concerned. The Republican column was concerned. The figures for those four districts were: First alaction district. CANDIDATE BEATEN BY PRINTER. Frederick H. Vinton Appeared on Ballet as "Frank H. Vinten."

H. Vinton, of the little town of Bedford, is cursing the printers. He supposed he had no opposition for election as Collector and Republicans of Bedford township, over east, in Westchester county, the home over east, in Westchester county, the home for so many years of Judge William H. Robertson, got up a fusion ticket. The Collectership was awarded to the Republicans and the lot fell to Frederick H. Vinton. His name was correct on the list of nominations, tally sheets, canvass sheets, and was right when it went to the County Clerk. The tickets were printed. Late in the afternoon of election day a Democrat discovered that the ticket read Frank H. Vinton. He immediately consulted some Democratic friends, and they at once found others and all cast their vote for Collector in the blank column by writing in the name of James Millmore. That night when the votes were counted Frank H. Vinton had to votes, James Millmore had 13 and Frederick H. Vinton 6 votes. Probably some good Republicans also discovered the mistake and voted for Frederick H. Vinton for the nine votes.

Of course, Frank H Vinton is elected Collector But there is no such man living in the town of Bedford James Millimore receives the next highest number. It and is consequently elected to the office by a majority of a over Frederick H Vinton. The once will be appealed to the courts.

D. Wilson Wants 820,200 From James Henderson for Daughter's Betrayal -Rev. Mr. Stoffet, Who Was Engaged to Girl, and Rev. Mr. Stutchell Testify.

R. Dean Wilson of 553 Madison street, Brooklyn, has brought civil action for $20,200 damages against James Henderson, 22 years old, a member of the Throp avenue Presbyterian Church of Brooklyn, Wilson accuses Henderson of having seduced his sixteen-year-old daughter Helena and says that he is the father of her fourteen-months-old child. Two of the wit-nesses in the case are young clergymen of Jersey City, the Rev. William Torrence Stutchell, pastor of the Clermont Avenue Presbyterian Church, and the Rev. James Stofflet, pastor of the Free Reformed Church. In order to get their testimony the Supreme Court appointed Maximilian T. Rosenberg of Jersey City Special Commissioner. The first examination in the case was held vesterday in Mr. Rosenberg's offices, 1 Exchange place.

The Rev. Mr. Stofflet testified that had been engaged to Miss Wilson from Nov 30, 1899 until April of the following year when, owing to certain suspicions of his which were confirmed by the family doctor, he had broken the engagement Upon cross examination he said that he had, before breaking off the engagement, slept at the Wilson house twice. Mr. Stofflet admitted that upon each of these occasions his fiancée had visited his room after 11 o'clock at night, but said that their relations were perfectly proper. He saw nothing wrong in her visiting him at night, as the two were engaged. He said that during the greater part of the time she was in his room she knelt by his bedside and wept. When asked whether or not she was fully dressed when she made these visits, Mr. Stofflet said that he was not sure. The Rev. Mr. Stutchell, in his testimony, said that he had first met Miss Wilson at her father's country place at White Lake, Sullivan county, N. Y., about four years ago, while he was preaching there. He said that once Helena, her sister Ella, and he had taken a walk through the woods to see the sunset. Next day he received a note from Mrs. Wilson asking him to cease his attentions to her daughter. He was also forbidden to call at the house.

He continued to meet the girl, however not only in White Lake, but later in New York and Brooklyn. On several occasions, he said, they had visited restaurants when in Brooklyn; once they had supped in a private room, but never had there been any improper relations between them. The damages asked for by Mr. Wilson, as the father of Helena, are for his expenses during his daughter's confinement the Committee of Arrangements that is and for the alleged betrayal The complaint was served about a year ago. The answer filed by young Henderson is a general denial of every charge contained in the complaint. He is confident that he will be able to prove himself innocent. The case will probably come to trial the latter part of this month. " Stutchell is 29 years old and comes from Washington. He was educated at Harvard and for a while practised law. He was educated for the ministry at the Princeton Theological Seminary and at

TWO MINISTERS IN SCANDAL. | NOW AT DINNER TO FESSENDEN. Made Against Constitutional

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 9 .- As a result of the banquet given by 200 well-known Connecticut citizens, mainly Republicans and including a few well-known Democrats, to Samuel Fessenden of Stamford upon his return recently from Europe, in Hartford last night, there is a row of large proportions among the Republicans. New Haven Re-publicans to-day were red hot over what they considered was a conspiracy lurking under the tables at this occasion. It was understood that the dinner was to be entirely of a social character. Hardly had Mr. Fessenden stood on his feet before he began a covert attack upon those wh were advocating a new Constitution for Connecticut. He was particularly critical Connecticut. He was particularly critical upon those who were seeking through a new Constitution for increased representation in the General Assembly. He said that the present Constitution had been eminently satisfactory and was good enough for him. Mr. Fessenden was in Europe while the Constitutional Convention campaign was in progress. The speech was a great surprise. Half the gathering had probably come to have a jolly time with Fessenden and not to hear a speech from him condemning those who were advocating a new Constitution.

Former Governor Morgan G. Bulkeley followed Mr. Fessenden in an assault upon those who want a new Constitution and said that the present Constitution didn't need any repairs. This was another sur-prise and the Constitutional reformers in the gathering were getting very indig-

Then Col. Isaac M. Ullman of New Haven, a vigorous, young Republican, pitched into Fessenden and Bulkeley for their speeches and said that he was not only greatly dis-pleased, but disappointed. He said the speeches were entirely out of harmony with the programme as represented to him when he was invited to attend the

him when he was invited to attend the dinner.

By this time the anti-Constitutional reformers led by Bulkeley were making such a din that the last part of Col. Ullman's speech could not be heard above the uproar. It is now said that the dinner was intended as a medium to bring about the reconciliation of Bulkeley and Fessenden, who have been for several years fighting each other in an effort to get to the United States Sentate. Gov. MacLean and Chairman Fyler, both Constitutional reformers, did not attend the dinner. Neither were United States Senators Platt and Hawley present, although invited.

A LITTLE GIRL'S LEGS CUT OFF. A Crowd Chases Motorman Whose Number Is Reported to Be 273.

night on Park avenue near Kent avenue was run down by a car of the Park avenue line bound uptown. Both of her legs were cut off. A crowd happened to be present and a made a rush for the motorman. He took off the controller and fought the crowd with it for several minutes. Finally the crowd grew so large that he was forced to jump down from the car for safety. Then swing-ing the controller he managed to make his escape down Kent avenue and the crowd lost him.

Some one sent in a call for an ambulance and also for the reserves of the Flushing avenue police station. It was reported to the police that the motorman's number was 273. The girl was taken to the Williamsburg Hospital, where it was said that her recovery was doubtful. that her recovery was doubtful.
